

M.W. Watermark filter presses can be equipped with a safety guard, which consists of a wire mesh screen mounted on the non-operating side of the press.

The purpose of the safety guard is to prevent injuries to personnel who might approach the press from the non-operating side while the press is opening or closing or when a plate shifter is operating.

