

Where the material being pumped to the filter press is hazardous for human contact, vinyl splash curtains may be included with an M.W. Watermark filter press.

The splash curtains are attached to a metal framework that is attached to the press. Splash curtains help contain liquid that may, under certain conditions, squirt or splash from between the filter plates during the fill cycle or during power washing of the filter plates and cloths.

The curtains are typically hung along either side of the filter plate stack and across the top of the press, but may be customized for other arrangements.
