

Our filter press hoist is designed to lift and lower filter plates using a controller. Plates are hooked by their handles, allowing movement along a track with the help of a guide cord. The track extends beyond the length of the filter press to provide space for servicing the plate.

This functionality means that a single person can move large plates, simplifying the process of changing cloths. The filter press hoist comes with two motor options - air and electric - to suit different requirements.

VIDEO
Filter Plate Hoist

Controller

Air or Electric Motor Options